Comments: (such as, notable birds seen, interesting bird or animal behavior, condition of the birding site, participant comments):

It was an unusually warm day for this walk compared to most years. The birds were no as vocal as the start but activity picked up as the day went on. All in all an excellent trip

- Special note: although this trip was scheduled to be a joint trip with the T.G. Pearson Audubon Society, there was some apparent miscommunication; the original Trip Coordinator thought that because of recent heavy rains, the roads might not be trafficable, so the trip was cancelled. However, that notice only went out to the T.G. Pearson Audubon Society. The attendees were mostly from the Piedmont Bird Club with a couple of guests. That may account for the fairly low number of attendees.
