

Workday at Woven Works Park, July 11, 2020

submitted by Melanie Stadler, Conservation Committee Chair

On July 11, 2020, three Piedmont Bird Club members participated in the cleanup at Woven Works Park, along with several volunteers from other groups. Woven Works Park, part of the Downtown Greenway in Greensboro, is home to the Bird, Bee, and Butterfly Pollinator Garden. Diane Laslie, with the NC Native Plant Society, helped guide volunteers with projects for the morning. The outdoor activity, with masks required, enabled everyone to be safely distanced and protected from the pandemic. Another workday will be scheduled in August.

Volunteer Workday on the Downtown Greenway

Join us for a Volunteer Workday
at the Bird, Bee, &
Butterfly Pollinator
Garden at Woven
Works Park
(401 Cumberland St)
on Saturday, July 11
from 8-10am

No gardening experience necessary. Members of the Native Plant Society & Piedmont Bird Club will guide volunteers who will assist with weeding and planting. We will follow social distancing guidelines and limit group to no more than 25 people. Please bring your own water, mask and gardening gloves.
Email Laura Lorenz at llorenz@actiongreensboro.org or call 336.387.8355 if you plan to join us.

photo courtesy of Downtown Greenway Greensboro